

The Sahmurai Sword tubeless repair kit is made by the German marathon rider Stefan 'Sahmurai' Sahm. With this repair kit one can close big holes in tubeless mountainbike tyres within a minute.

The plug kit is made up of two components that are built into a pair of expanding bar plugs. These sit inside the bars to provide a safe way to carry the kit.

The tools are easy to access; one can plug a hole in half a minute, barely losing any tyre pressure.

One plug hosts the reamer, which is used to open up the puncture, the other holds a plug fork to push the gummy worm through the hole.

The plugs will work with any handlebar with an inside diameter of 17mm and up.

Advantages:

A tyre can be repaired multiple times.

No need to place an inner tube.

No waste of sealant.

Even a 'snakebite' can be repaired.
